

STODDARD CASE AN ENIGMA

Arizona's Secretary Strongly Supported. The President is Annoyed.

WASHINGTON, October 27.—(Special to the Arizona Republic.)—The rumor became current today that President Roosevelt was ready to make a decision in the case of Secretary Stoddard of Arizona, but an inquiry at the White House this afternoon failed to elicit any information.

The most notable feature of the case during the past few days has been the earnest support which Secretary Stoddard has been receiving from the leading republicans of New York. Senator Thos. C. Platt, Gov. Benjamin B. Odell, Chairman Dunn of the state committee, and Judge Colera Martin of the court of appeals, Mr. Stoddard's father-in-law, have signified to the president that they have looked into the case and understand all the motives back of the charges against the secretary, that they are confident that he has been guilty of no wrongdoing, and that they wish him retained in office. It has never been doubted, however, that the president would follow Governor Brodie's recommendation, and Mr. Stoddard virtually admits that the governor has recommended his removal. Officials at the department of the interior and at the White House have steadily declined to say what action the governor has taken, but for a week the general understanding has been that Governor Brodie has definitely ranged himself on the side against Stoddard.

Politicians familiar with the situation in New York say that the case is full of embarrassment for the president. They do not intimate that Mr. Roosevelt would do other than the right thing as he saw it, but where there is so much conflicting assertion and so much conflicting influence, he would be heartily glad to be pleasantly free of the entire matter. There is no disguising the fact that the president has been annoyed by the presentation of the Stoddard charges at this time. He is one of the shrewdest politicians in the country, and he is not losing sight of the probability that in the campaign of next year the state of New York will be closely contested, with the possibility that the democrats may carry the state should there be serious divisions in the republican ranks. Nobody from New York would think of suggesting that the Stoddard case could reach enough importance to cut any figure in the New York campaign, but it has its importance in the possibility of creating some degree of friction between Mr. Roosevelt and the New York leaders on whom he must rely next year for the management of his campaign.

A new complication lies in the suggestion that Judge Martin may be the republican nominee for governor. It is pointed out that should this be the case it would be very regrettable were there cause for coolness between the two leading candidates on the ticket.

It is a common thing to speak of a legislature which has adjourned as "the late legislature," signifying that it is no more. As a matter of fact the legislature does not become "late" until the next one has been elected or until the two years for which the members are elected expire. The Twenty-second legislature is therefore as much in existence as it was a year ago. There is a vacancy in it which will have to be filled by a special election, for which Governor Brodie has issued a proclamation. Capt. P. S. Ingalls, a member of the lower house from Yuma county, having been appointed surveyor general, moved to Phoenix and lost his residence in the county from which he was elected. He lately presented his resignation to T. T. Powers, speaker of the house, who communicated the fact to Governor Brodie, who called a special election in Yuma county to fill the legislative vacancy.—Arizona Republic.

The Morenoi strikers leaders, tried and convicted in the district court for Graham county, received the following sentences: W. H. Lousstann, known as "Three Fingered Jack," received two years in Yuma and a fine of $3000; Abraham Salcido, Francisco Figueroa, Manuel N. Flores, each two years in Yuma and a fine of $1000; Frank Colombo, Frank Saleni, Periano Castano, Joe Parpi, two years in Yuma; Juan B. de la O. and Francisco Gonzalez, one year in Yuma. It is reported that none of the strikers were able to pay their fines and they will consequently be compelled to serve out the entire sentence.

C. A. Rucker, one of the leading advertising agents of the United States, in speaking to a Duluth paper the other day, said: "As to the value of advertising, show me the man who says to a newspaper, 'I can't give you any more, I have given you $20 worth this month already,' and I will turn from him to find the successful merchant. The successful one will be the man who takes an interest in his advertising and considers it one of the essential points in his business. Advertising is today as necessary to the business man as is the capital with which he establishes his business." Mr. Rucker is the representative of a concern which spends annually hundreds of thousands of dollars for newspaper advertising in the United States.

Alfred Peterson's Funeral.

The funeral of the late Alfred Peterson took place from Logan's undertaking parlors yesterday. The remains had been held for several days pending the return of father of deceased from a visit to Europe and he came in on Saturday evening's train. The funeral was well attended, representatives from several miners' unions being present, principally from the McCabe union. The funeral sermon was preached by Rev. E. O. McIntire, of the Marina street Methodist church. Rev. McIntire, while in Globe, was chaplain of the Globe miners' union, and in his sermon yesterday he dwelt on the danger of the occupation of the miners, stating that while in Globe he had held services at the funerals of 87 members of the Miners' union, many of whom had met death in mine accidents. At the grave the funeral services of the Western Federation of Miners was held.—Prescott Courier.
